Women In The Field Anthropological Experiences:

Women in the Field Peggy Golde, 1986-07-28 What is it like to be an anthropologist or more specifically a woman anthropologist Here we see highly trained and qualified women anthropologists examining their own efforts to live and work in alien cultures in many parts of the world New chapters have been added to this ground breaking volume and each contributor is in one way or another a pioneer All have chosen to devote their lives and energies to the understanding of worlds not their own All have felt it important to explain what they do why they do it and how they feel about their work Cultures vary widely in their perception of a woman engaged in anthropological field work Each of these women has had to deal with the influence of her gender as well as the subject of her study on the mechanics of establishing a living working relationship with people of another culture The diversity of their responses to the presence of a foreign woman at work in their midst gives the book an invaluable cross cultural perspective as does the great variety of reactions and strategies on the part of the authors themselves Besides providing rare insight into field work in general Women in the Field mirrors the difficulties and delights of any person thrust into an unfamiliar culture Femininities in the Field Brooke A.

Porter, Heike A. Schänzel, 2018-01-30 The aim of this book is to analyse and reflect on the effect of femininities in the field and the encountered biases specific to women researchers in tourism studies The purpose of the book is to define potential areas of gender bias using international case studies from five continents to improve the validity and transparency of future research conducted by researchers in transcultural contexts It covers broad themes including access attire and conduct sexual harassment personal safety and accompanied research and well being The volume provides case studies using reflexivity to create baselines for comparison for female and male researchers doing fieldwork and outlines potential areas of concern for supervisors through a transdisciplinary approach in a global context It is an essential guide for supervisors students ethics committee members and any researchers This book is open access under a CC BY NC ND licence The Ethnographic Self Amanda Coffey, 1999-05-10 What are the relationships between the self and fieldwork How do personal emotional and identity issues impact on fieldwork The Ethnographic Self argues that ethnographers and others involved in research in the field should be aware of how fieldwork affects the researcher and how the researcher affects the field Coffey synthesizes accounts of the personal experience of ethnography and aims to make sense of the process of fieldwork research as a set of practical intellectual and emotional accomplishments The book is thematically arranged and illustrated with a wide range of empirical material The author examines the ethnographic presence in the field and the implications of this in and beyond fieldwork exploring issues such as the creation of the ethnographic self and the embodiment and sexualization of the field and self The Ethnographic Self will be of interest to anyone working in the area of qualitative research but especially for sociologists and educational and health researchers BOOK JACKET Working in the Field P.
