House of Commons - Committee of Public Accounts: Student Loan Repayments - HC 886 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts, 2014-02-14 There is at present around 46 billion of outstanding student loans on the Government's books and this figure is set to rise dramatically to 200 billion by 2042 in 2013 prices By 2042 there will be an estimated 6.5 million borrowers of student loans At the same time estimates for the amount of loans that will not be repaid are also rising and the Government assumes that 35-40% of outstanding loans will never be repaid That is some 16 billion to 18 billion on the current debt of 46 billion and 70 billion to 80 billion on the estimated value of student loans by 2042 The Department for Business Innovation Skills the Department is not doing enough to secure value for money from its collection arrangements The Department is unable to accurately forecast student loan repayments and does not have a sufficient understanding of the likely future cost of non repayment to the taxpayer The Student Loans Company is not doing enough to ensure that it identifies and collects all the repayments due given the substantial size of the financial assets involved and will need to demonstrate value for money from the proposed sale of the student loans book Funding Education Beyond High School: The Guide to Federal Student Aid 2006-2007, Combined Statement of Receipts, Expenditures and Balances of the United States Government (varies Slightly), 1974 Student Loan Repayment Guide, 2006 Compilation of Student Financial Aid Regulations Through ... United States. Office of Postsecondary Education, United States. Department of Education. Student Financial Assistance Programs, 1998 Higher Education, Stratification, and Workforce Development Sheila Slaughter, Barrett Jay Taylor, 2015-11-17 This work analyses how political economic shifts contribute to competition within higher education systems in the US, EU and Canada The authors highlight competition for prestige and public and private subsidies exploring the consequences of these processes through theoretical and empirical analyses Accordingly the work highlights topics that will be of interest to a wide range of audiences Concepts addressed include stratification, privatization of formerly public subsidies, preference for high tech academic fields and the vocationalization of the curriculum i.e. Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) fields, selected professions and business rather than the liberal arts or the Humboldtian vision of the university Across national contexts and analytic methods authors analyze the growth of national policies that see universities as a sub set of economic development casting universities as corporate research laboratories and education as central to job creation Throughout the volume the authors make the case that national and regional approaches to politics and markets result in different experiences of consequences of academic capitalism While these shifts serve the interests of some institutions others find themselves struggling to meet ever greater expectations with stagnant or shrinking resource bases Minnesota Statutes Minnesota, 2004 The Massachusetts register, 1992-01-17
