Excerpt from The Pageant of Greece Another part are the works themselves Literature can only be judged by reading it and certainly it cannot be characterized in a few pages But a man ignorant of Greek and anxious to estimate its value might form some idea by inquiring the opinion of qualified judges He would find them unanimous I suppose it is true that no man of eminence qualified to speak has ever spoken of Greek literature in any tone but one The first testimony is that of the Romans It is borne by their literature starting in translations from Greek adopting one after another of their genres permeated through and through and most of all in the greatest writers by imitations reminiscences in uences of Greek confessing and glorifying in the debt In learning says Cicero and in every branch of literature the Greeks are our masters 1 A Roman boy should begin his studies with Greek Quintilian thought because Latin learning is derived from Greek 2 The same note is repeated in the literature of the Renaissance and re echoed by the most various voices of our own century About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works      The Pageant of Greece Sir Richard W. Livingstone, 2017-02-07

First published in 1923 this book by Sir Richard Winn Livingstone is intended for those who know no Greek but wish to form some idea of its great writers and of what they wrote It is meant for the ordinary educated reader as well as for pupils at the universities and in the upper forms of schools who will never learn the language but need not be left in total ignorance of the literature and thought of Greece and it may be used to give the weaker student while he struggles with individual authors a view of the literature as a whole and an idea of the doors which knowledge of the language will open to him It is not a book about the Greeks such books can be at best pale reflections of the central fire at which they are lit It consists of selections from the greatest Greek writers with such a sketch of their lives and works as may give an idea of what they were and did But it is not a mere anthology of selections I have tried as far as possible to piece the passages together in a continuous whole and further to trace the growth of Greek literature and indicate the historical background in which it is set Anyone who reads these pages will not merely read famous or typical extracts from the great Greek writers but will also follow in outline the most important part of that vast intellectual development which started with Homer and outlasted the Roman empire Richly illustrated throughout      The Pageant of Greece Richard Winn Livingstone (Sir.), 1924
