Devaluing Public Apologies in the Age of Social Media Joshua M. Bentley,2024-12-15 In Devaluing Public Apologies in the Age of Social Media Joshua M Bentley argues that apologies are losing their meaning in American society as organizations and public figures treat them as strategical tools without considering their ethical implications As the demand for apologies in the age of social media continues to increase exponentially Bentley posits the apologies that are given carry less and less weight to the public This book examines how controversial figures like Donald Trump and Joe Rogan as well as brands like Google and Bud Light have addressed public controversies both effectively and ineffectively illustrating how social media polarization and cancel culture are changing the way apologies are given and received If apologies are to serve their historical role of resolving conflict peacefully Bentley argues they must be placed back into their proper ethical context This book offers insight on how individuals and organizations can ensure their apologies reflect their authentic values Scholars of communication ethics media studies political science and public relations will find it especially useful

Strategies and systematic implementation of innovation management for sustainable business success Dennis Maurer,2016-08-16 Seminar paper from the year 2016 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 1.0 EBC University Düsseldorf language English

abstract Forming new businesses entering new markets and increasing organizational effectiveness occurs through the innovation and transformation processes Corporations must be able to adapt and evolve if they wish to survive The ability to innovate is a source of sustainable competitive advantage However how is it possible for a company to breed innovation into the very bones of an organization so that it becomes an ongoing managed phenomenon Is innovative thinking independent of external circumstances Or is there any method to its creativity And what would an innovation model look like The importance of innovation in regards to a businesses value is without a doubt the most meaningful and perhaps most essential aspect of a company. Innovation pays dividends for shareholders, it drives growth and differentiation, motivates employees, opens new markets and captures customers' attention all while using much lower advertising budgets. One company that has clearly done something right in the past is Google. This company is a symbol for integrative IT infrastructures and restructuring business architecture through experimentation, improvisation, analytical decision making, participative product development, and other noteworthy modes of innovation. It uses an evaluation of ideas with an admittedly chaotic ideation process and a set of accurate data driven methods. Google's culture fascinates even the brightest technical expertise. It has developed or acquired an array of new offerings to augment the core search product. Its expansion, profitability, and shareholder equity are at unmatched levels. It has been the designer or a leading exponent of new paths to business and management innovation. These are the main reasons why Google is a great allegory of innovation and a profound example of a successful integrated innovation management approach. The purpose of this essay, based on Adapa Srinivasa Rao's case study, Corporate Entrepreneurship and Innovation at Google Inc, is to build a bridge between the company's methods and the theoretical framework that abstractly enables and drives innovation in the corporate environment.
