The Reconciliation Of Peoples Challenge To The Churches:

The Reconciliation of Peoples Gregory Baum, Harold Wells, 2009-06-01 Modern ethnic tension and conflict fueled by poverty and despair have led to a worldwide escalation of hostility among peoples From Bosnia to Rwanda to Sri Lanka there seems to be no end to the list of countries in conflict and the deep divisions along religious lines that become fuel for the fires Ethnic conflict challenges peacemakers and in particular peacemakers in the churches The Reconciliation of Peoples Challenge to the Churches this collection of fifteen original essays reports on the efforts of church based groups to foster reconciliation between former combatants in many different contexts The opening essay by coeditor Harold Wells explores biblical perspectives on forgiveness reconciliation and grace The essays on particular conflicts reflect upon actual efforts and achievements by Christian churches organization and individuals to bring about reconciliation among former enemies These conflicts include peoples divided the Irish the Koreans the Rwandans Burundians peoples persecuted internally by their own ruling elite the Chileans the Fijians peoples tragically deprived of land and home the Palestinians and peoples torn apart by war the Germans the Poles the peoples of the Balkans Reconciliation in these contexts is the only way for two parties to rewrite their histories and enter upon a new path The concluding essay by coeditor Gregory Baum reflects theologically on the meaning and demands of reconciliation and on why it is at times so difficult for churches to take on the role of mediator

Fullness of Life for All Inus Daneel, Charles Van Engen, Hendrik M. Vroom, 2005 This important book is needed today The challenges that Christian churches face have changed immensely in the last quarter century One of the central issues facing the churches everywhere in the world is their missionary presence in their nations and societies The authors of this volume are among the world's leading missiological thinkers and represent nearly every major Christian tradition in Europe Africa North America and Asia In this new century the Christian church faces new situations that include for example the fall of communism the globalization of culture cultural and religious minorities and multiple religious majorities in nearly every country ethnic and interreligious tensions relativism and individualism in Western culture the rise of a global impact of a postmodern world view poverty in poor countries and in urban areas in wealthy countries and the decline of Western cultural authority and with notable exceptions of religious authority generally This book speaks of ways in which Christian churches are seeking to respond to these challenges The purpose of this book is to describe some of the main challenges facing the churches in mission today particularly with reference to inter religious conversations all over the world The title of this volume has been derived from the theme of the 24th General Assembly of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches WARC at Accra in August 2004 whose theme is That All May Have Life in Fullness Such Christian witness is more than humanness because it arises from the fullness of God's grace forgiveness reconciliation and hope that God's will may be done on earth as it is in heaven Christian presence in a desperately needy world will make the fullness of God's presence known Such fullness of life permeates the heart mind and action of Christians The editors and authors of this volume hope that it will challenge the reader to reflect upon the missionary presence of the churches and their communication of the Gospel in a secularized religiously plural world filled with struggles violence and rumors of war Fullness of life points to the Kingdom of God that is here already and at the same time not yet here This constitutes Christian expectation and hope This book is must reading for anyone interested in seeing the Christian Church respond in new and relevant ways to the new situations facing our world in a new century

The Catholic Church and the Northern Ireland Troubles, 1968-1998 Margaret M. Scull,2019 Until surprisingly recently the history of the Irish Catholic Church during the Northern Irish Troubles was written by Irish priests and bishops and was commemorative rather than analytical This study uses the Troubles as a case study to evaluate the role of the Catholic Church in mediating conflict During the Troubles these priests and bishops often worked behind the scenes acting as go betweens for the British government and republican paramilitaries to bring about a peaceful solution However this study also looks more broadly at the actions of the American Irish and English Catholic Churches as well as that of the Vatican to uncover the full impact of the Church on the conflict This critical analysis of previously neglected state Irish and English Catholic Church archival material changes our perspective on the role of a religious institution in a modern conflict

Burning Center, Porous Borders Eleazar S. Fernandez,2011-10-17 Burning Center Porous Borders articulates what the church is and is called to be about in the world a world now globalized to the point that the local is lived globally and the global is lived locally The church must respond creatively and prophetically to the challenges economic disparity war and terrorism diaspora ecological threat health crisis religious diversity and so on posed by our highly globalized world It can do so only if the church s spiritual center burns mightily Conversely it can burn mightily in the spirit of Christ only if its borders are porous and allows the fresh air spirit of change to blow in and out While there is much rhetoric about change the most common response to change is to continue doing business as usual This is particularly the case in the face of perceived global threats In spite of the hoopla and euphoria of the global village walls of division and exclusion are rising hearts are constricting and moral imagination shrinking In response to this context Burning Center Porous Borders proposes alternative ways or images of being a church burning center and porous borders wall buster and bridge builder translocal glocal mending healer radical hospitality community of the earth spirit household of life abundant dialogians of life and community of hope In Burning Center Porous Borders congregational vitality and progressive praxis kiss and embrace

Ethnic and Religious Conflict in Africa Cyril U. Orji,2008 Africa has often been perceived as a confluence of tension and conflict and the recent upheavals in Sub Saharan Africa have done little to help this perception The waves of ethnic and religious violence continue to drain the continent of its material and human resources leading to a state of cumulative decline Intolerance and tribal and inter ethnic conflict seem commonplace Muslim Christian relations in some countries are currently at their lowest ebb The author of this study Cyril Orji draws on Canadian Jesuit theologian Bernard Lonergan 1904 1984 to offer an analysis of bias that addresses a root cause of conflict in the human person and society According to Orji Lonergan s analysis can contribute to a deeper understanding of ethnic and religious conflict in Africa and can offer resources for overcoming them
