Wanting What's Best Sarah W. Jaffe,2022-05-24 When privileged parents say that they want what s best for their child they don t consciously add and not for other children Yet the practical effect of parents with privilege relentlessly pursuing their own child s interests is that other children are left behind Author Sarah W Jaffe interviewed dozens of parents who are resisting the cultural pressures to seek the best for only their kids while navigating some of the major decisions that parents make about childcare schools how they use their time and money and the legacy they hope to leave their kids These may not feel like political decisions but each either contributes to a system where only a few can thrive or takes a small step toward dismantling it Our children are watching and learning from how we make choices How we treat the people who care for them tells them how they should behave as a boss Where we send them to school teaches them about their place in the world How we spend our time and money sends them more powerful messages about how to spend theirs than any lecture about the importance of giving back or gratitude ever could

What does it look like to fight for other people's children as if the future of your own child depended on it What choices would you make Breaking Ranks Colin Diver,2022-04-12 Some colleges will do anything to improve their national ranking That can be bad for their students and for higher education Since U S News World Report first published a college ranking in 1983 the rankings industry has become a self appointed judge declaring winners and losers among America's colleges and universities In this revealing account Colin Diver shows how popular rankings have induced college applicants to focus solely on pedigree and prestige while tempting educators to sacrifice academic integrity for short term competitive advantage By forcing colleges into standardized best college hierarchies he argues rankings have threatened the institutional diversity intellectual rigor and social mobility that is the genius of American higher education As a former university administrator who refused to play the game Diver leads his readers on an engaging journey through the mysteries of college rankings admissions financial aid spending policies and academic practices He explains how most dominant college rankings perpetuate views of higher education as a purely consumer good susceptible to unidimensional measures of brand value and prestige Many rankings he asserts also undermine the moral authority of higher education by encouraging various forms of distorted behavior misrepresentation and outright cheating by ranked institutions The recent Varsity Blues admissions scandal for example happened in part because affluent parents wanted to get their children into elite schools by any means necessary Explaining what is most useful and important in evaluating colleges Diver offers both college applicants and educators a guide to pursuing their highest academic goals freed from the siren song of the best college illusion Ultimately he reveals how to break ranks with a rankings industry that misleads its consumers undermines academic values and perpetuates social inequality
