Voluntary Regulation Of Ngos And Nonprofits An Accountability Club Framework:

Voluntary Regulation of NGOs and Nonprofits Mary Kay Gugerty, Aseem Prakash, 2010-09-30 How can nonprofit organizations and NGOs demonstrate accountability to stakeholders and show that they are using funds appropriately and delivering on their promises Many nonprofit stakeholders including funders and regulators have few opportunities to observe nonprofit internal management and policies Such information deficits make it difficult for principals to differentiate credible nonprofits from less credible ones This volume examines a key instrument employed by nonprofits to respond to these challenges voluntary accountability clubs These clubs are voluntary rule based governance systems created and sponsored by nongovernmental actors By participating in accountability clubs nonprofits agree to abide by certain rules regarding internal governance in order to send a signal of quality to key principals Nonprofit voluntary programs are relatively new but are spreading rapidly across the globe This book investigates how the emergence design and success of such initiatives vary across a range of sectors and institutional contexts in the United States the Netherlands Africa and Central Europe

Between Power and Irrelevance George E. Mitchell, Hans Peter Schmitz, Tosca Bruno-van Vijfeijken, 2020 Geopolitical shifts increasing demands for accountability and growing competition have been driving the need for change within transnational nongovernmental organizations TNGOs As the world has changed and TNGOs ambitions have expanded the roles of TNGOs have shifted and their work has become more complex To remain effective legitimate and relevant in the future necessitates organizational changes but many TNGOs have been slow to adapt As a result the sector's rhetoric of sustainable impact and social transformation has far outpaced the reality of TNGOs more limited abilities to deliver on their promises Between Power and Irrelevance openly explores why this gap between rhetoric and reality exists and what TNGOs can do individually and collectively to close it George E Mitchell Hans Peter Schmitz and Tosca Bruno van Vijfeijken argue that TNGOs need to change the fundamental conditions under which they operate by bringing their own forms and norms into better alignment with their ambitions and strategies This book offers accessible future oriented analyses and lessons learned to assist practitioners and other stakeholders in formulating and implementing organizational changes Drawing upon a variety of perspectives including hundreds of interviews with TNGO leaders firsthand involvement in major organizational change processes in leading TNGOs and numerous workshops training institutes consultancies and research projects the book examines how to adapt TNGOs for the future

Civil Society, the Third Sector and Social Enterprise Jean-Louis Laville, Dennis R. Young, Philippe Eynaud, 2015-04-24 If the twentieth century was only focused on the complementarity and the opposition of market and state the twenty first century has now to deal with the prominence of the third sector the emergence of social enterprises and other solidarity hybrid forms The concept of civil society organisations CSOs spans this diversity and addresses this new complexity The first part of the book highlights the organizational dimensions of CSOs and analyses the growing role of management models and their limits Too often the study of CSO governance has been centered on the role of the board and has not sufficiently taken into account the different types of accountability environments Thus the conversation about CSO governance rises to the level of networks rather than simple organizations per se and the role of these networks in setting the agenda in a democratic society In this perspective the second part emphasizes the institutional dimensions of CSO governance by opening new avenues on democracy First the work of Ostrom about governing the commons provides us new insights to think community self governance Second the work of Habermas and Fraser opens the question of deliberative governance and the role of public sphere to enlarge our vision of CSO governance Third the concepts of substantive rationality and economy proposed respectively by Ramos and Polanyi reframe the context in which the question can be addressed Lastly this book argues for a stronger intercultural approach useful for the renewal of paradigms in CSOs research This book has for objective to present a unique collective work in bringing together 33 authors coming from 11 countries to share perspectives on civil society governance and will be of interest to an international audience of researchers and policy makers

The Voluntary Environmentalists Aseem Prakash, Matthew Potoski, 2006-06-29 Can businesses voluntarily adopt progressive environmental policies Most environmental regulations are based on the assumption that the pursuit of profit leads firms to pollute the environment and therefore governments must impose mandatory regulations However new instruments such as voluntary programs are increasingly important Drawing on the economic theory of club

goods this book offers a theoretical account of voluntary environmental programs by identifying the institutional features that influence conditions under which programs can be effective By linking program efficacy to club design it focuses attention on collective action challenges faced by green clubs Several analytic techniques are used to investigate the adoption and efficacy of ISO 14001 the most widely recognized voluntary environmental program in the world These analyses show that while the value of ISO 14001 s brand reputation varies across policy and economic contexts on average ISO 14001 members pollute less and comply better with governmental regulations

Regulatory Waves Oonagh B. Breen, Alison Dunn, Mark Sidel, 2016-12-22

All governments in various ways regulate and control nonprofit organizations Nongovernmental organizations NGOs while hopeful of supportive regulatory environments are simultaneously seeking greater autonomy both to provide services and to advocate for policy change In part to counter increasing statutory regulation there is a global nonprofit sector movement towards greater grassroots regulation what the authors call self regulation through codes of conduct and self accreditation processes This book drills down to the country level to study both sides of this equation examining how state regulation and nonprofit self regulation affect each other and investigating the causal nature of this interaction Exploring these issues from historical cultural political and environmental perspectives and in sixteen jurisdictions Australia China Brazil Ecuador England and Wales Ethiopia Ireland Israel Kenya Malawi Mexico Tanzania Uganda Scotland United States and Vietnam the authors analyse the interplay between state control and nonprofit self regulation to better understand broader emerging trends

Advocacy Organizations and Collective Action Aseem

Prakash, Mary Kay Gugerty, 2010-11-25 Advocacy organizations are viewed as actors motivated primarily by principled beliefs This volume outlines a new agenda for the study of advocacy organizations proposing a model of NGOs as collective actors that seek to fulfil normative concerns and instrumental incentives face collective action problems and compete as well as collaborate with other advocacy actors The analogy of the firm is a useful way of studying advocacy actors because individuals via advocacy NGOs make choices which are analytically similar to those that shareholders make in the context of firms The authors view advocacy NGOs as special types of firms that make strategic choices in policy markets which along with creating public goods support organizational survival visibility and growth Advocacy NGOs strategy can therefore be understood as a response to opportunities to supply distinct advocacy products to well defined constituencies as well as a response to normative or principled concerns

Greening the Firm Aseem Prakash, 2000-04-20

Over the last two decades environmental issues have become important in public and business policy This book asks why firms sometimes voluntarily adopt environmental policies which go beyond legal requirements It employs a new institutionalist perspective and argues that existing explanations especially from neoclassical economics concentrate on external factors at the expense of internal dynamics Prakash argues that beyond compliance policies are due to two types of intra firm processes which he describes as power and leadership based His argument is supported by analysis of ten cases within two firms Baxter International Inc and

Eli Lilly and Company including interviews with managers and access to meetings and documents This book therefore examines the internal working of firms environmental policy in a theoretically rigorous way providing a significant contribution to the theory of the firm It will be valuable for students of business and environmental studies as well as political economy and public policy      Management, Control and Accountability in Nonprofit/voluntary Organizations Treasa Hayes,1996 The main focus of this book is on management control and accountability in voluntary organisations The fieldwork presented consists of 40 in depth interviews undertaken in 10 voluntary organisations exploring aspects of management control and accountability Building on the research findings an outline model is formulated identifying the external and organisational characteristics that impact on management control and accountability in voluntary organisations It shows that these characteristics can create particular demands for management in the voluntary sector that differ from those encountered in other sectors      Non-Governmental Organisations and the Law Domenico Carolei,2023-05-11 This book examines accountability issues and the problems of regulating non governmental organisations NGOs through self regulation It focuses on methods of self regulation for NGOs in response to prominent scandals that revealed problems with their accountability notably the Mafia Capitale scandal in Italy and the Oxfam GB scandal in Haiti It also touches upon other accountability failures including the allegations against the WWF of facilitating human rights abuses of indigenous groups in Cameroon The work brings a legal approach to the topic of NGO self regulation and accountability contributing to the academic and policy debate in several ways It advances a brand new theoretical model to explain the reasons behind NGOs non compliance with self regulation examines the reasons for self regulation failures identifies new accountability routes and recommends proposals for sectoral reform The book will be of great interest to scholars researchers and PhD students who work in the area of NGO regulation and accountability from a legal perspective as well as to accountability and NGO scholars working in other disciplines It will also appeal to practitioners and policymakers who work on the development of NGO policies      Evaluating a Vital Dimension of Self-regulation of Nonprofits Jill Kay Smith,2010 A major contribution of this study for future research in the field was the development of a disclosure scoring instrument to assess and compare website disclosure and transparency      Regulation of the Voluntary Sector Mark Sidel,2009-10-16 A critical introduction to and analysis of the legal relationships between the state and voluntary sector this volume provides the first available comparative analysis of state responses to voluntary sector activity in the wake of September 11th      Debating NGO Accountability Jem Bendell,2006 Concerns about the role and accountability of NGOs have been voiced from different quarters in recent years Some donors governments corporations and international agencies raise important questions about the effectiveness of NGO work and the legitimacy of their advocacy Some NGOs have also recognized the need to ensure good practice in the wider voluntary sector For this emerging agenda to lead to positive development outcomes we need to ask what initiatives will improve the accountability of all institutions to the people whose lives they shape and what initiatives could serve merely to undermine NGOs useful and largely accepted role in holding business and government accountable for their actions This publication puts democracy and human rights at the centre of the debate about NGO accountability

Trust But Verify? Voluntary Regulation

Programs in the Nonprofit Sector Aseem Prakash,Mary Kay Gugerty,2013 This paper examines how information problems can cause agency slippages and lead to governance failures in nonprofits Drawing on the principal agent literature we provide a theoretical account of an institutional mechanism namely voluntary regulation programs to mitigate such slippages These programs seek to impose obligations on their participants regarding internal governance and use of resources By joining these programs nonprofits seek to differentiate themselves from nonparticipants and signal to their principals that they are deploying resources as per the organizational mandate If principals are assured that agency slippages are lower in program participants they may be more likely to provide participants with resources to deliver goods and services to their target populations However nonprofit regulatory programs are of variable quality and in some cases could be designed to obscure rather than reveal information We outline an analytic framework to ex ante differentiate the credible clubs from the charity washes A focus on the institutional architecture of these programs can help predicting their efficacy in reducing agency problems

Non-profit Governance Guillaume Plaisance,Anne Goujon Belghit,2024-08-29 Non profit Governance offers 12 perspectives and analytical frameworks to facilitate the development of governance in non profit organisations NPOs In this sector governance is all the more important because it is often voluntary Organisations therefore need to be supported in their management accountability and strategy International standards in particular ISO 37000 2021 dedicated to the governance of organisations propose key principles to ensure value creation around stakeholder engagement leadership risk governance social responsibility and organisational sustainability This book proposes to explore and adapt these principles to the non profit sector To do this the book focuses on four facets of governance the controls it puts in place the stakeholders it must listen to and manage the performance it must monitor and finally the people it must lead and mobilise The book also highlights the interest of governance mechanisms and processes in developing effective performance ethics in NPOs and responsible management Each chapter therefore takes one or more of the principles of ISO 37000 2021 in the non profit context and builds an analytical framework around them These 12 frameworks can thus be used by the organisations themselves to develop their governance practices and by researchers who will find original approaches to incorporate into their studies

Governing Nonprofit Organizations Marion R. Fremont-Smith,2008-12-15 The nonprofit sector is a vital component of our society and is allowed the greatest freedom to operate The public understandably assumes that since nonprofit organizations are established to do good the people who run nonprofits are altruistic and the laws governing nonprofits have reflected this assumption But as Marion Fremont Smith argues the rules that govern how nonprofits operate are inadequate and the regulatory mechanisms designed to enforce the rules need improvement Despite repeated instances of negligent management self interest at the expense of the charity and outright fraud nonprofits continue to receive minimal government regulation In this time of increased demand for corporate accountability the need to strengthen regulation of nonprofits is obvious Fremont Smith addresses this need from a historical legal and organizational perspective She combines summaries and analysis of the substantive legal rules governing the behavior of charitable officers directors and trustees with descriptions of the federal and state regulatory schemes designed to enforce these rules Her unique and exhaustive historical survey of the law of nonprofit organizations provides a foundation for her analysis of the effectiveness of current law and proposals for its improvement

NGO Accountability Lisa Jordan, Peter van

Tuijl, 2012-05-04 As the fastest growing segment of civil society as well as featuring prominently in the global political arena NGOs are under fire for being unaccountable But who do NGOs actually represent Who should they be accountable to and how This book provides the first comprehensive examination of the issues and politics of NGO accountability across all sectors and internationally It offers an assessment of the key technical tools available including legal accountability certification and donor based accountability regimes and questions whether these are appropriate and viable options or attempts to roll back NGOs to a more one dimensional function as organizers of national and global charity Input and case studies are provided from NGOs such as ActionAid and from every part of the globe including China Indonesia and Uganda In the spirit of moving towards greater accountability the book looks in detail at innovations that have developed from within NGOs and offers new approaches and flexible frameworks that enable accountability to become a reality for all parties worldwide
