A Guide to Teaching in the Active Learning Classroom Paul Baepler,J. D. Walker,D. Christopher Brooks,Kem Saichaie,Christina I. Petersen,2023-07-03 While Active Learning Classrooms or ALCs offer rich new environments for learning they present many new challenges to faculty because among other things they eliminate the room's central focal point and disrupt the conventional seating plan to which faculty and students have become accustomed The importance of learning how to use these classrooms well and to capitalize on their special features is paramount The potential they represent can be realized only when they facilitate improved learning outcomes and engage students in the learning process in a manner different from traditional classrooms and lecture halls This book provides an introduction to ALCs briefly covering their history and then synthesizing the research on these spaces to provide faculty with empirically based practical guidance on how to use these unfamiliar spaces effectively Among the questions this book addresses are How can instructors mitigate the apparent lack of a central focal point in the space What types of learning activities work well in the ALCs and take advantage of the affordances of the room How can teachers address familiar classroom management challenges in these unfamiliar spaces If assessment and rapid feedback are critical in active learning how do they work in a room filled with circular tables and no central focus point How do instructors balance group learning with the needs of the larger class How can students be held accountable when many will necessarily have their backs facing the instructor How can instructors evaluate the effectiveness of their teaching in these spaces This book is intended for faculty preparing to teach in or already working in this new classroom environment for administrators planning to create ALCs or experimenting with provisionally designed rooms and for faculty developers helping teachers transition to using these new spaces     The National Guide to Educational Credit for Training Programs American Council on Education,2005 Highlights over 6 000 educational programs offered by business labor unions schools training suppliers professional and voluntary associations and government agencies     How to Succeed in College (While Really Trying) Jon B. Gould,2024-05-31 After years of preparation and anticipation many students arrive at college without any real knowledge of the ins and outs of college life They ve been focused on finding the right school and have been carefully guided through the nuances of the admissions process but too often they have little knowledge about how college will be different from high school or what will be expected of them during that crucial first year and beyond Written by an award winning teacher How to Succeed in College While Really Trying provides much needed help to students offering practical tips and specific study strategies that will equip them to excel in their new environment Drawing on years of experience teaching at a variety of campuses from large research universities to small liberal arts colleges Jon B Gould gives readers the lay of the land and demystifies the college experience In the course of the book students will learn how to identify the best instructors how to choose classes and settle on a major how to develop effective strategies for reading and note taking and how to write good papers and successfully complete exams Because much of the college experience takes place outside of the classroom Gould also advises students on how to effectively manage their cocurricular activities work obligations and free time as well as how to take advantage of the typically untapped resources on every campus With candid advice and insights from a seasoned insider this guide will leave students better prepared not only to succeed in college but to enjoy it as well     Journal University of Pittsburgh.
