Artificial Intelligence in Recruiting. A Literature Review on Artificial Intelligence Technologies, Ethical Implications and the Resulting Chances and Risks Matthias Rudolph, 2021-01-07 Master's Thesis from the year 2020 in the subject Computer Sciences Artificial Intelligence grade 1.3 Friedrich Alexander University Erlangen Nuremberg Wirtschaftsinformatik language English abstract The thesis aims to analyze this field of tension between the benefits and risks caused by the introduction of AI into recruiting based on a systematic analysis of academic publications. To the knowledge of the author, neither a literature review on ethical challenges of AI based recruiting tools nor an overview addressing application fields and the resulting ethical risks has been published so far. Consequently this thesis aims to close this research gap by disclosing how AI technologies affect the recruiting process and how ethical challenges arising from the implementation of AI based tools are addressed in the same publications. Consequently research question RQ one RQ1 and RQ two RQ2 can be derived: Which AI technologies are applied in the field of recruiting and how do they influence the recruiting process? Which major ethical challenges arise from the introduction of AI into recruiting and how are these challenges addressed by the proposed AI based tools? Addressing these two RQs the remainder of this thesis is structured as follows: Chapter 2 classifies recruiting and its subprocesses as a part of Human Resources HR establishes a common understanding of AI and machine learning ML algorithms relevant in AI based recruiting tools and derives major ethical challenges with a focus on the ethical principles fairness and transparency. In chapter 3 the methodical approach used for identifying and selecting relevant literature is described. Chapter 4 answers both RQs based on the AI based recruiting tools included in the literature set. In turn the first part of the analysis focuses on analyzing how the needs raised through traditional recruiting means are addressed by AI based recruiting tools also touching base on the underlying technologies. The second part addresses if and where applicable how these publications incorporate fairness and transparency. Subsequently chapter 5 discusses the main findings of the analysis of the literature set and provides implications for theory and practice followed by a brief conclusion and the outlining of limitations and future research fields in chapter 6.

purpose of the following questions is to refine the present knowledge gap within the banking and finance industry regarding the WFM impact of AI. The author will emphasize via a literature review and interviews exactly how AI based technology tools have been implemented in the banking and finance industry. To do so three research questions have been chosen and will be further analyzed throughout this study paper. The first question focuses on WFM and HR teams. It predicts how many people and what kind of qualifications will be deployed. As well as where and when they will be deployed. There are many consequences of banks and other financial institutions implementing more AI technology. In his book Competing in the Age of AI Iansiti and Lakhani mention that it is critical for leaders to understand the choice of model along with navigating the ethics of digital scale. The author emphasizes that leaders must be able to build a strong organization of safety, security, and sustainability. Firms spend billions of dollars on new AI related technologies and innovations. Despite this banks and other financial institutions face three main issues. The first challenge is an outdated operating model. The second challenge is the lack of a fitting talent strategy. Both challenges are interconnected to each other. Likewise as a third challenge Workforce Management (WFM) the core process that boosts performance levels and competency for an organization has been reformed and disrupted by the introduction of AI.
