Time Present And Time Past:

Television Aesthetics Nikos Metallinos, 2013-11-05 USE FIRST TWO PARAGRAPHS ONLY FOR GENERAL CATALOGS

This volume offers a response to three ongoing needs to develop the main composition principles pertinent to the visual communication medium of television to establish the field of television aesthetics as an extension of the broader field of visual literacy and to promote television aesthetics to both students and consumers of television. Based on effective empirical research from three axes: perception, cognition, and composition, the aesthetic principles of television images presented are drawn from converging research in academic disciplines such as psychology, perceptual cognitive, and experimental neurophysiology, and the fine arts: painting, photography, film, theater, music, and more. Although the aesthetics of the fine arts were traditionally built on contextual theories that relied heavily on subjective evaluation, on critical analyses, and on descriptive research methods, the aesthetics of today's visual communication media consider equally valuable empirical methodologies found in all sciences. Investigations in these different academic disciplines have provided the constructs and strengthened the foundations of the theory of television aesthetics offered in this book. Special features include a great variety of pictures supporting the topics discussed, a thorough up-to-date and specifically related bibliography for each of the major parts of the book, computer drawings illustrating the concepts examined in the text, scientific data tables and charts documenting the research findings, cited simplified explanations of the processes of visual, auditory, and motion perceptions of images, enhanced by specific diagrams, detailed analyses of the threefold process of stimulation, perception, and recognition of televised images, and workable, easy-to-understand and use rules of picture composition, visual image evaluations, and television program appreciation.

T. S. Eliot: The Poems Martin Scofield, 1988-03-10 The poems, some of the poetic drama, particularly Sweeney Agonistes, and relevant sections of prose criticism are discussed in detail and placed in relation to the development of Eliot's oeuvre and more briefly to his life and a wider context of philosophical and religious enquiry.

Introduction History and the Contemporary Novel David Cowart, 1989 Cowart presents a study of international historical fiction since World War II with reflections on the affinities between historical and fictional narrative. Analysis of the basic modes of historical fiction and readings of a number of historical novels including John Barth's The Sot-Weed Factor, Marguerite Yourcenar's Memoirs of Hadrian, Russell Hoban's Riddley Walker, Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale, Giuseppe Tomasi di Lampedusa's The Leopard, D. M. Thomas's The White Hotel, William Faulkner's Go Down, Moses, and Umberto Eco's The Name of the Rose. He proposes recognizing four modes of the historical novel: the past as a distant mirror of the present; fictions whose authors seek to pinpoint the precise historical moment when the modern age or some prominent feature of it came into existence; fictions whose authors aspire purely or largely to historical verisimilitude; and fictions whose authors reverse history to contemplate utopia and dystopia in the future. Thus, historical fiction can be organized under the rubrics: The Distant Mirror, The Turning Point, The Way It Was, and The Way It Will Be. This fourfold schema and his focus on postwar novels set Cowart's work apart from previous studies which have not devoted adequate space to the contemporary historical novel. Cowart argues that postwar historical fiction merits more extensive treatment because it is the product of an age unique in the annals of history, an age in which history itself may end. Tibetan Philip Denwood, 1999-01-01. The Tibetan language comprises a wide range of spoken and written varieties whose known history dates from the 7th century AD to the present day. Its speakers inhabit a vast area in Central Asia and the Himalayas extending into seven modern nation states while its abundant literature includes much of vital importance to the study of Buddhism. After surveying all the known varieties of Tibetan including their geographical and historical background, this book concentrates on a phonological and grammatical description of the modern spoken Lhasa dialect, the standard spoken variety. The grammatical framework which has been specially devised to describe this variety is then applied to the written varieties of Preclassical and Classical Tibetan, demonstrating the fundamental unity of the language. The writing system is outlined though all examples and texts are given in roman script and where appropriate the International Phonetic Alphabet. The volume includes a comprehensive bibliography. Harrison Birtwistle: The Mask of Orpheus Jonathan Cross, 2017-07-05. Hailed at its premiere at the London Coliseum in 1986 as the most important musical and theatrical event of the decade, The Mask of Orpheus is undoubtedly a key work in Harrison Birtwistle's output. His subsequent stage and concert pieces demand to be evaluated in its light. Increasingly it is also viewed as a key work in the development of opera since the Second World War, a work that pushed at the boundaries of what was possible in lyrical theatre. In its imaginative fusion of music, song, drama, myth, mime and electronics, it has become a beacon for many younger composers and the object of wide critical attention. Jonathan Cross begins his detailed study of this lyric tragedy by placing it in the wider context of the reception of the Orpheus myth. In particular, the significance of Orpheus for the twentieth century is discussed and this provides the backdrop for an examination of Birtwistle's preoccupation with the story in a variety of works across his creative life. The sources and genesis of The Mask of Orpheus are explored. This is followed by a close reading of the work's three acts, analysing their structure and meaning, investigating the relationship between music, text and drama, drawing on Zinovief's textual drafts and Birtwistle's compositional sketches. The book concludes by suggesting a range of contexts within which The Mask of Orpheus might be understood. Its central themes of time, memory and identity, loss, mourning and melancholy, touch a deep sensibility in late modern society and culture. Interviews with the librettist and composer round off this important study. Handbook of Therapeutic Imagery Techniques Anees Ahmad Sheikh, 2020-02-20. Consists of a description of a multitude of imagery techniques that have been grouped into four categories: hypno-behavioral, cognitive-behavioral, psychodynamic, humanistic and humanistic-transpersonal. A Complete Latin-English and English-Latin Dictionary John Tahourdin White, 1878. An Exposition of Some of the Laws of the Latin Grammar Gessner Harrison, 1852. A Library of American Literature from Earliest Settlement to the Present Time Edmund Clarence Stedman, Ellen Mackay Hutchinson, 1894.
