hardware is capable of good performance once properly configured. Battery health below 80% indicates degradation contributing to drain though optimization still provides meaningful improvement. The guide includes decision frameworks helping determine when optimization alone suffices versus when battery replacement should be considered. I need all my apps and features I can't disable things. Optimization doesn't require disabling features you actually use. It involves disabling features and permissions you're not using or don't realize are enabled. Most users discover 10-15 apps with location access they don't remember granting background refresh for apps they haven't opened in months and notifications from apps they ignore. The guide emphasizes selective optimization: keep features providing value, disable features consuming battery without providing proportional benefit. Location access for Maps is appropriate; location access for shopping apps tracking you for advertising is not. You decide which trade offs align with your priorities. This probably requires technical expertise I don't have. Every procedure includes specific step by step instructions with exact Settings navigation paths. Open Settings Privacy Specific procedures with exact Settings navigation paths. Emergency fixes systematic optimization and long term maintenance.
