Sustainable Living The Role Of Whole Life Costs And Values:

Sustainable Living: the Role of Whole Life Costs and Values Nalanie Mithraratne, Brenda Vale, Robert Vale, 2007-09-04 Achieving a sustainable building is not just a matter of design and construction what happens once the building is occupied is absolutely critical This book shows how the choices designers developers and building users make impact on sustainability over the life span of the building The authors show how a holistic approach considering costs energy use environmental impact global warming potential as well as items which are usually disregarded such as finishes furniture and appliances is needed to achieve best practice

Sustainable Living: Life cycle analysis model, results and lessons Nalanie Mithraratne, 2007 Achieving a sustainable building is not just a matter of design construction what happens once the building is occupied is critical This book shows how the choices designers developers building users make impact on sustainability over the life span of the building

Living within a Fair Share Ecological Footprint Robert Vale, Brenda Vale, 2013-09-02 According to many authorities the impact of humanity on the earth is already overshooting the earth's capacity to supply humanity's needs This is an unsustainable position This book does not focus on the problem but on the solution by showing what it is like to live within a fair earth share ecological footprint The authors describe numerical methods used to calculate this concentrating on low or no cost behaviour change rather than on potentially expensive technological innovation They show what people need to do now in regions where their current lifestyle means they are living beyond their ecological means such as in Europe North America and Australasia The calculations focus on outcomes rather than on detailed discussion of the methods used The main objective is to show that living with a reduced ecological footprint is both possible and not so very different from the way most people currently live in the west The book clearly demonstrates that change in behaviour now will avoid some very challenging problems in the future The emphasis is on workable practical and sustainable solutions based on quantified research rather than on generalities about overall problems facing humanity

Constructing a Consumer-Focused Industry David Oswald, Trivess Moore, 2022-06-09 The old saying safe as houses is being challenged around the world like never before Over recent decades homeowners have experienced the devastating effects of defects like asbestos leaky buildings structural failings and more recently the combustible cladding crisis The provision of safe and secure housing is a critical starting point to ensure that social value can be delivered in the built environment However some of these dangerous defects have resulted in a lack of security safety health well being and social value for households and the wider community The problems homeowners experience go beyond the substantial financial costs for defect rectification Too often there has been a lack of government and industry support to help the housing consumer through these issues or to prevent them from occurring to begin with It is time for a rethink and restructure of government policy support and industry practices to better protect housing consumers and deliver high quality and sustainable housing that creates social value Through evidence based research and international case studies this book focuses on the effects that dangerous defects have on the housing consumer The ongoing construction cladding crisis is used as a primary case study throughout to highlight these implications with other previous large scale defect examples such as leaky buildings and asbestos Based upon the range of emerging evidence we propose ideas for policy makers construction and built environment professionals owners corporations and households on how to move forward towards a higher quality sustainable and socially valuable way of residential living Government policy has long focused on making industry work through building regulations and standards It is now time for greater government and industry focus on the consumer to make consumer protection work in the built environment There is a need to prevent dangerous defects like combustible cladding better support consumers when defects emerge and to create buildings for social value rather than minimum standards Now is the time to build a better future for the end user

Constructing Professional Discourse Concepción Orna-Montesinos, 2012 This book explores the fascinating role that language plays in the construction of non verbal objects by mapping out the ontological meaning of the specialised concepts and the domain specific knowledge embedded in them In doing so it provides a comprehensive linguistic insight into the discourse of professional domain specific communities and hence into the communication practices and procedures of those communities In this respect the book offers a response to the claims made by many of the most influential applied linguists today such as Vijay Bhatia 1993 2004 John Swales 1990 2004 or Ken Hyland 2002 among others who have consistently defended the need for applied linguistic research into the textual generic and social perspectives on the under researched interrelatedness of the discursive and professional practices of a discipline Specifically this book provides readers with an integrative multi perspective approach to the study of professional domain specific discourses While it mainly draws on the tenets of genre theory and discourse semantics it also nurtures from the theoretical and empirical foundations of applied linguistics cognitive linguistics corpus linguistics and ontological engineering The book starts from the analysis of domain specific texts as final written products with specific lexico grammatical semantic and rhetorical features to later enquire into the written products as textual artefacts closely linked to the social context of production and interpretation of the text This integrative approach provides fresh new insights into the way the processes of writing are affected by the community specific institutional and socio historical circumstances in which domain specific texts are produced

Planning , 2006

Whole Life Costing for Sustainable Building Mariana Trusson, 2019-11-05 Whole life costing is now integral to building procurement both for new buildings and major refurbishments It is key when assessing investment scenarios for estates as well as individual buildings and has become a tool for justifying higher capital cost items Standard whole life costing methods combine capital cost facilities costs operational costs income and disposal costs with a single action single benefit approach Costing based on this type of single attribute assessment misses out on realising value from the intricacies of the interactions buildings have with their occupants users and the location in which they are placed In contrast the multi attribute approach presented by the author of this book explains how to analyse the whole cost of a building while also taking into account secondary and tertiary values of a variety of actions that are deemed important for the project owners and decision making stakeholders The process is an effective tool for presenting a good business case within the opportunities and constraints of real life For example it presents the interdependencies of how Building location affects servicing strategies which impact on maintainability and control and by extension on occupant comfort Material selection affects time on site building maintainability as well as overall building quality and the environment Building shape impacts on servicing strategies as well as operating costs The reader will be shown how to incorporate this method of whole life valuation into standard cost models allowing for a more robust decision making process This is done by breaking down project aims into their most basic aspects and adopting the methods of simple quantitative risk analysis the functionality of which is based on real data Written by an author immersed in project team collaboration to identify the interdependencies of design decisions throughout her professional life this is the most practical guide available on the topic     The Structural Engineer ,2003     Making Sustainability Accountable Stephan Moll,David Gee,1999     Bridge Management 4 M. J. Ryall,G. A. R. Parke,J. E. Harding,2000 These proceedings are from The Fourth International Conference on Bridge Management that consolidated the best and more importantly up to date research conducted in the field of bridge management Since the first conference in 1990 the scientific art of bridge management has advanced at an astonishing rate There has been a change from a curative to a preventative approach to bridge management promising an increased longevity for the next generation of bridges and reduced whole life costs and practical and economical solutions have been found for some recurring problems     Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing Jürgen Hesselbach,Christoph Herrmann,2011-03-19 The 18th CIRP International Conference on Life Cycle Engineering LCE 2011 continues a long tradition of scientific meetings focusing on the exchange of industrial and academic knowledge and experiences in life cycle assessment product development sustainable manufacturing and end of life management The theme Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing addresses the need for engineers to develop solutions which have the potential to address global challenges by providing products services and processes taking into account local capabilities and constraints to achieve an economically socially and environmentally sustainable society in a global perspective Glocalized Solutions for Sustainability in Manufacturing do not only involve products or services that are changed for a local market by simple substitution or the omitting of functions Products and services need to be addressed that ensure a high standard of living everywhere Resources required for manufacturing and use of such products are limited and not evenly distributed in the world Locally available resources local capabilities as well as local constraints have to be drivers for product and process innovations with respect to the entire life cycle The 18th CIRP International Conference on Life Cycle Engineering LCE 2011 serves as a platform for the discussion of the resulting challenges and the collaborative development of new scientific ideas     Topic Report ,1999     Environment & Planning ,1999     You're Retired Now
