A gem among the vast Perfection of Wisdom literature, the Diamond Sutra elicits an experience of eternal truth through its use of a seemingly paradoxical style as the reader goes back and forth between what is and what is not. Master Hsing Yun skillfully plumbs the depths of the Diamond Sutra, illuminating for us its power to change who we are and how we interpret our world.

Zen and the Art of Saving the Planet Thich Nhat Hanh, 2021-10-05 NATIONAL BESTSELLER A vital approach to combating climate change and creating a better world for us and our future generations from beloved Buddhist and environmental activist Thich Nhat Hanh. We face a potent intersection of crises: ecological destruction, global warming, inflation, rising inequality, racial injustice, and the lasting impacts of a devastating pandemic. As shown time and time again, the situation is beyond urgent. To face these challenges, we need to find ways to strengthen our clarity, compassion, and courage to act. As beloved Zen Master Thich Nhat Hanh said, "When you wake up and you see that the Earth is not just the environment, the Earth is us; you touch the nature of interbeing." He is blazingly clear: there's one thing we all have the power to change, which can make all the difference, and that is our mind. Our way of looking, seeing, and thinking determines every choice we make; the everyday actions we take or avoid; how we relate to those we love or oppose; and how we react in a crisis. This book is for anyone who cares about the growing and devastating impacts of climate change, mindful consumption, how human and nature's interconnectedness is paramount for the well-being of all humanity, and creating a better, regenerative world for us, future generations. Energetic and altruistic and filled with Thich Nhat Hanh's inspiring meditations, Zen stories, and experiences from his own activism, Zen and the Art of Saving the Planet shows us individual actions help guide institutional change and bring healing and harmony to ourselves, our relationships, and our planet Earth.

The Diamond Sutra Red Pine, 2001 Zen Buddhism is often said to be a practice of mind-to-mind transmission without reliance on texts; in fact, some great teachers forbid their students to read or write. But Buddhism has also inspired and accumulated some of the greatest philosophical texts of any religion. Two works lie at the center of Zen: The Heart Sutra, which monks recite all over the world, and The Diamond Sutra, which teaches the perfection of wisdom and cuts through all obstacles on the path of practice. It is perhaps the most studied of all the sutras and by one count more than twenty thousand commentaries are noted Red Pine as he begins his preface explains The Diamond may look like a book but it s really the body of the Buddha It s also your body my body all possible bodies But it s a body with nothing inside and nothing outside It doesn t exist in space or time Nor it is a construct of the mind It s no mind And yet because it s no mind it has room for compassion This book is the offering of no mind born of compassion for all suffering beings Of all the sutras that teach this teaching this is the diamond It cuts through all delusions illuminates what is real and cannot be destroyed It is the path on which all buddhas stand and walk And to read it is to stand and walk with buddhas Red Pine the translator and Buddhist scholar has worked with this text for many years He has consulted dozens of commentaries in Chinese and in Sanskrit to offer this brilliant new translation together with extensive commentary intended to present this sacred text in a new light The result is a work of inspiration and guidance a text of spiritual practice for all seekers
