

3.2.4 Creating the Configuration

While the Split Screen Wizard executes the configuration, the following "Generation" dialog is displayed:

Each successfully executed work step is marked with a check mark. If a step does not need to be executed because the configuration settings were not changed, that step is also marked with a check mark.

In the case of an error, the check mark is replaced with a red exclamation mark and the generation process is interrupted. The "Messages" display box gives a more detailed description of the error and the "Cancel" button is displayed instead of the "OK" button.
