Wearable Prints 1760 1860 History Materials And Mechanics:

Wearable Prints, 1760-1860 Susan W. Greene, 2014 Wearable prints are not only a decorative art form but also the product of a range of complex industrial processes and an economically important commodity. But when did textile printing originate and how can we identify the fabrics, inks, dyes, and printing processes used on surviving historical examples? In Wearable Prints 1760 1860 author Susan Greene surveys the history of wearable printed fabrics which reaches back into the earliest days of the discovery of the delights of selectively patterned cloth and is firmly interwoven with the Industrial Revolution. The bulk of the book is devoted to the process of printing and dyeing. Greene brings together evidence from period publications and manuscripts, extant period garments and quilts, and scholarship on eighteenth and nineteenth century chemistry and technology. Making the text come alive, Greene includes some 1600 full color images including a plentiful array of textile samples. Wearable Prints 1760 1860 is a convenient encyclopedic guide written in plain language accessible to even the most casual reader. Historians, students, costumers, quilters, designers, curators, and collectors will find it an essential resource.

Encyclopedia of Local History Amy H. Wilson, 2017-02-06 The Encyclopedia of Local History addresses nearly every aspect of local history including everyday issues, theoretical approaches, and trends in the field. This encyclopedia provides both the casual browser and the dedicated historian with adept commentary by bringing the voices of over one hundred experts together in one place. Entries include Terms specifically related to the everyday practice of interpreting local history in the United States such as African American History, City Directories, and Latter Day Saints Historical and documentary terms applied to local history such as Abstract, Culinary History, and Diaries. Detailed entries for major associations and institutions that specifically focus on their usage in local history projects such as Library of Congress and Society of American Archivists. Entries for every state and Canadian province covering major informational sources critical to understanding local history in that region. Entries for every major immigrant group and ethnicity. Brand new to this edition are critical topics covering both the practice of and major current areas of research in local history such as Digitization, LGBT History, museum theater, and STEM education. Also new to this edition are graphics including 48 photographs. Overseen by a blue ribbon Editorial Advisory Board Anne W. Ackerson, James D. Folts, Tim Grove, Carol Kammen, and Max A. van Balgooy, this essential reference will be frequently consulted in academic libraries with American and Canadian history programs, public libraries supporting local history museums, historic sites and houses, and local archives in the U.S. and Canada. This third edition is the first to include photographs.

Printing Colour 1700-1830 Margaret Morgan Grasselli, Elizabeth Savage, 2024-12-27 From the invention of four colour separation printing c. 1710 to the introduction of chromolithography c. 1830, Printing Colour 1700 1830 offers the first survey of eighteenth century colour printmaking in and beyond western Europe, dynamically expanding print history to include such diverse consumer goods as clothing, wallpapers, and pottery.
