Raising the Bar Claude Fussler, Aron Cramer, Sebastian van der Vegt, 2017-09-08 This book produced by a unique team of business experts and UN agencies is designed to fill a critical void between the support of more than 1 000 organisations for the globally recognised Principles of the United Nations Global Compact and the need for this support to be translated into the day to day running of business to create value and improve performance The ten Global Compact Principles cover human rights labour standards environmental responsibility and anti corruption But what does it mean to implement the Compact and its principles How can the broad brush strokes of the Principles form the basis of management change And how should companies establish benchmarks and performance indicators for implementation For many companies the journey is just starting How can they ensure that they align with the Global Compact in ways that continue to reward their other business objectives How should they embrace and capitalise on the Global Compact's potential for bringing together business the public sector trade unions and civil society in new partnerships The aim of this book is to answer these questions by providing a performance model clearly grounded on the total quality management approach to assist businesses in putting the Global Compact into practice Raising the Bar collects together and categorises a wealth of corporate responsibility tools good practice and case studies in a structure familiar to anyone aware of business excellence models and demonstrates that values create value leadership commitment to the Global Compact can impact both the boardroom and the shop floor public image and balance sheet Full of graphics and designed with accessibility in mind the book will be a goldmine for managers looking for inspiration on how their businesses can be good corporate citizens and real proof that good business is also good for the bottom line

'A Necessary Supplement' - What the United Nations Global Compact Is and Is Not Andreas Rasche, 2015 The United Nations Global Compact is with currently over 6 000 voluntary participants the world's largest corporate citizenship initiative Although having made much progress towards its goals the Compact still faces a lot of criticism This paper first analyzes three critical allegations often made against the

Compact by looking at the academic and non academic literature 1 The Compact supports the capture of the UN by big business 2 Its ten principles are vague and thus hard to implement 3 The Compact is not accountable due to an absence of verification mechanisms This article discusses these three allegations and argues that they rest on a misunderstanding of a the nature of the Compact as well as its mandate and b the goals it tries to achieve From this discussion of what the Compact is not the article then outlines a perspective that classifies the initiative as a necessary supplement to incomplete state and non state regulatory approaches in order to illustrate what the Compact is The article argues that critics neglect this important supplementary role of the Compact This neglect leads to an underestimation of the Compact s true potential Based on this discussion the article looks at specific ways of improving the Compact and the challenges that must be understood when considering the rapid growth of the initiative

International Investment Law and Globalization Jean-Michel Marcoux, 2018-09-03 In a context of neoliberal globalization have the processes of elaboration and implementation of foreign investors responsibilities by intergovernmental organizations reached the realm of legality Using an analytical framework and a methodology that combines international law with international relations this book provides a twofold answer to this question First it demonstrates that the normative integration of foreign investors responsibilities in international investment law is fragmented and consistent with the interests of the most powerful actors Second while using the interactional theory of international law to assess the normative character of several international instruments elaborated and implemented by intergovernmental organizations it highlights the sense of obligation that each instrument generates The analysis demonstrates that such a codification process is marked by relations of power and has resulted in several social norms with relatively few legal norms
