A Representation of the Academic Potential of So-Called 'Low' Culture Emma Buchanan,2020-11-15 Despite or more likely due to being the culture which most affects and interacts with the masses the broad and definition evading category of popular culture remains a second class citizen in academia relegated to a position of low below a culture deemed high and worthy of scholarly inquiry This eclectic collection of essays aims to convince that this inequality must be addressed by exploring a variety of supposedly low cultural types and texts through an academic lens proving that so called low culture can be a valuable contribution to academic research That said raising the low does not mean making it high turning it into an elite category to be accessed only by experts Rather the authors are unswerving in their approach that academic writing and fan writing are not mutually exclusive On the contrary it is their knowledge and passion as fans of their subject matter that has inspired their chapters all of which draw upon their considerable experience of engaging as fans in what they discuss All the chapters have been written by postgraduate students seeking to inspire a new empiricism through which their interests

might be fully pursued in their futures as scholars Emma Buchanan is a British postgraduate researcher and television fan who is currently writing up her PhD thesis on the topic of gender and change in AMC's The Walking Dead as understood from the point of view of Jungian depth psychology

Popular Music and Film Ian Inglis, 2003 The growing presence of popular music in film is one of the most exciting areas of contemporary research in film studies The changing roles and functions that such music performs the variety of ways in which it provides narrative aesthetic and commercial opportunities and the consequences of its increasing displacement of the traditional film score are among the most significant developments in recent cinema practice Written by an international group of academics and researchers the new essays in this volume seek to explore these issues and to locate them within their appropriate creative and organizational contexts Individually the chapter by chapter focus on specific topics allows for close examination of particular debates collectively the book's overall analysis points to important changes in the production and consumption of both film and music

CD Review, 1995 Master of the Ceremonies Ric Birch, 2004-09-01 How would it feel to be the creative mastermind behind some of the world's greatest public spectacles No one will forget the beauty of Barcelona's archer lighting the Olympic flame with a burning arrow or the sheer drama of Cathy Freeman igniting the Olympic torch in Sydney But what about the unseen and unheard about dramas behind the openings Ric Birch knows intimately the highs and lows of producing and directing many of the world's most watched and acclaimed ceremonies The success of Ric's production at the 1982 Brisbane Commonwealth Games led to the opportunity to work on the opening and closing ceremonies of the Los Angeles Olympic Games From there Ric's path brought him back to Australia for the six month long World Expo 88 and then to the Singapore Silver Jubilee celebrations the ceremonies for the 1992 Barcelona Olympic Games and of course the magnificent ceremonies of the 2000 Sydney Olympics amongst many other events stage shows and television productions For the first time Ric Birch reveals some of the skulduggery behind the ceremonies He writes of his personal and professional life and of the effects they have on each other Ric also describes the years of creativity and ruthlessness that precedes each event with humour amazing detail and with huge affection and respect for his teams This entertaining and fascinating memoir reveals the guts determination and confidence of the master of the ceremonies Ric Birch      Popular Culture as Pedagogy Kaela Jubas,Nancy Taber,Tony Brown,2015-10-30 Grounded in the field of adult education this international compilation offers a range of critical perspectives on popular culture as a form of pedagogy Its fundamental premise is that adults learn in multiple ways including through their consumption of fiction As scholars have asserted for decades people are not passive consumers of media rather we re make our own meanings as we accept resist and challenge cultural representations At a time when attention often turns to new media the contributors to this collection continue to find old forms of popular culture important and worthy of study Television and movies the emphases in this book reflect aspects of consumers lives and can be powerful vehicles for helping adults see experience and inhabit the world in new and different ways This volume moves beyond conceptually oriented scholarship taking a decidedly research oriented focus It offers examples of textual and discursive analyses of television shows and films that portray varied contexts of adult learning and suggests how participants can be brought into adult education research in this area In so doing it provides compelling evidence about the complexity politics and multidimensionality of adult teaching and learning Using a range of television shows and movies as exemplars chapters relate popular culture to globalization identity health and health care and education The book will be of great use to instructors students and researchers located in adult education cultural studies women s and gender studies cultural sociology and other fields who are looking for innovative ways to explore social life as experienced and imagined      American Film Music William Darby,Jack Du Bois,1999 From the neighborhood pianist of silent movie days to the synthesized effects and music video sequences of the 1980s the great and not so great moments in film scoring Scores from countless films from Birth of a Nation 1915 through Top Gun 1986 are painstakingly analyzed how does the score relate to onscreen activity How does it follow or depart from tradition How does it represent the strengths and foibles of its composer The book includes discussion of trend setting work such as Max Steiner s King Kong 1933 an early instance of music carrying a significant portion of onscreen action Bernard Herrmann s Psycho 1960 with its unusual high scraping strings only support of the famous shower scene and Alex North s A Streetcar Named Desire 1951 the first essentially jazz oriented score as well as remarks on the work that followed within the resulting trends Discussions are enhanced by musical reproductions of significant themes and motives Chapters on 14 individual composers working largely within the United States are given perspective by summary chapters on the silent and early sound years the decades 1930 1980 and the work of composers outside the United States      Film Review ,2001      How to Read a Film James Monaco,1977      Film Score Monthly ,2000      Canadiana ,1990      The Wire ,2008      Bibliographic Guide to Music New York Public Library.
