Abel, 2023-01-31 Unlocking a vital understanding of how literary studies and media studies overlap and are bound together. A synthetic history of new media reception in modern and contemporary Japan. The New Real positions mimesis at the heart of the media concept. Considering both mimicry and representation as the core functions of mediation and remediation Jonathan E Abel offers a new model for media studies while explaining the deep and ongoing imbrication of Japan in the history of new media. From stereoscopy in the late nineteenth century to emoji at the dawn of the twenty first Abel presents a pioneering history of new media reception in Japan across the analog and digital divide. He argues that there are two realities created by new media one marketed to us through advertising that proclaims better faster and higher resolution connections to the real and the other experienced by users whose daily lives and behaviors are subtly transformed by the presence and penetration of the content carried through new media. Intervening in contemporary conversations about virtuality copyright copycat violence and social media each chapter unfolds with a focus on a single medium or technology including 3D photographs the phonograph television videogames and emoji. By highlighting the tendency of the mediated to copy the world and the world to copy the mediated The New Real provides a new path for analysis of media culture and their function in the world English Prose Fiction, Rev. and Enl. 1903 St. Louis Public Library, 1903 The Oxford Handbook of Japanese Cinema Daisuke Miyao, 2014 The reality of transnational innovation and dissemination of new technologies including digital media has yet to make a dent in the deep seated culturalism that insists on reinscribing a divide between the West and Japan. The Oxford Handbook of Japanese Cinema aims to counter this trend toward dichotomizing the West and Japan and to challenge the pervasive culturalism of today's film and media studies. Featuring twenty essays each authored by a leading researcher in the field this volume addresses productive debates about where Japanese cinema is and where Japanese cinema is going at the period of crisis of national boundary under globalization. It reevaluates the position of Japanese cinema within the discipline of cinema and media studies and beyond and situates Japanese cinema within the broader fields of transnational film history. Likewise it examines the materiality of Japanese cinema scrutinizes cinema's relationship to other media and identifies the specific practices of film production and reception. As a whole the volume fosters a dialogue between Japanese scholars of Japanese cinema film scholars of Japanese cinema based in Anglo American and European countries film scholars of non Japanese cinema film archivists film critics and filmmakers familiar with film scholarship. A comprehensive volume that grasps Japanese cinema under the rubric of the global and also fills the gap between Japanese and non Japanese film studies and between theories and practices. The Oxford
