Weather An Act Of Man:

H.R. 13715--National Weather Service Act of 1978 (successor to H.R. 8763) United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science and Technology. Subcommittee on Transportation, Aviation, and Weather, 1978     Literature and Weather Johannes Ungelenk, 2018-02-19 Literature and Weather Shakespeare Goethe Zola is dedicated to the relation between literature and weather i.e. a cultural practice and an everyday phenomenon that has played very different epistemic roles in the history of the world. The study undertakes an archaeology of literature's affinity to the weather which tells the story of literature's weathery self reflection and its creative reinventions as a medium in different epistemic and social circumstances. The book undertakes extensive close readings of three exemplary literary texts Shakespeare's The Tempest Goethe's The Sufferings of Young Werther and Zola's The Rougon Macquarts. These readings provide the basis for reconstructing three distinct formations negotiating the relationship between literature and weather in the 17th, the 18th and the 19th centuries. The study is a pioneering contribution to the recent debates of literature's indebtedness to the environment. It initiates a rewriting of literary history that is weather sensitive: the question of literature's agency, its power to affect cannot be raised without understanding the way the weather works in a certain cultural formation

Commentaries on the Law of Master and Servant, Including the Modern Laws on Workmen's Compensation, Arbitration, Employers' Liability, Etc., Etc. Charles Bagot Labatt, 1913     The Law of Bailments Edward Beal, 1900     Stormy Weather William E. Connolly, 2024-09-03 Composed as a counter history of western philosophical and political thought, Stormy Weather explores the role western cosmologies have played in the conquests of paganism in Europe and the Americas, the production of climate wreckage and the concealment of that wreckage from western humanists and earth scientists until late in the day. A lived cosmology Connolly says contains embedded understandings about the beginnings of the earth and the way time unfolds. The text engages the major western cosmologies of Augustine, Descartes, Kant, Tocqueville, together with pagan and minor western orientations that posed challenges to them or could have Hesiod, Ovid, William Apess, Amazonian and Aztec cosmologies. Catherine Keller's minor Christianity, James Baldwin and Michel Serres instigate key responses often challenging binary logics and the subject-object dichotomy with a world of multiple human and nonhuman subjectivities. Connolly pursues a conception of time as a multiplicity of intersecting temporalities to come to terms with the vicissitudes of climate destruction and the grandeur of an earth neither highly susceptible to mastery nor designed to harmonize smoothly with humans. The book revisits the improbable necessity of a politics of swarming to respond to the ongoing wreckage and potential fascist responses to vast infusions of climate refugees from the south into temperate zone capitalist states. Stormy Weather draws on the work of earth scientists, indigenous thinkers, naturalists, humanists and students of nonwestern cosmologies. Ultimately, Connolly contends that critical intellectuals today must not remain enclosed in disciplinary silos or even in the humanities as currently defined to do justice to our moment of climate wreckage
