

Welding Secrets Revealed

A high-contrast, low-light photograph of a welding process. A bright blue light source, likely a welding torch, is positioned on the left, casting a strong blue glow and creating a spray of white sparks. The main subject is a dark, metallic structure, possibly a pipe or frame, being welded. The intense heat of the weld is visible as a bright orange and yellow glow at the joints. The background is mostly black, making the bright light and sparks stand out.
