

Chapter 5: Understanding Human Being as Co-existence of Self and Body

Human Being as Co-existence of the Self and the Body

What do you visualize when you read the words human being? You may imagine a human body with its familiar form and features. Have you also thought about who is visualising the human being? Who is appreciating the form and features? Is a human being just the Body or something more than that? We want to explore exactly what a human being is.

The proposal is that human being is the co-existence of the Self and the Body.

The Needs of the Self and the Body

If you try to understand Self and Body separately, it could be understood on the basis of need (see fig. 5-2). The need of the Self is happiness. If someone expresses a feeling of respect for us, we feel happy about it. Respect is one of the needs of the Self. Now, if you look at the need of the Body, it is physical facility. One example of it is food. You may observe it in yourself that food is required, and respect is also required. Both of these are required for human being.

Human Being	Self ← Co-existence → Body
Need	Happiness (e.g. Respect) Physical Facility (e.g. Food)
In Time	Continuous Temporary
In Quantity	Qualitative (Is Feeling) Quantitative (Required in Limited Quantity)

5.2 : Needs of Human Being

Can one be replaced by the other? For example, if you are given well prepared tasty food, but it is given to you with a push and a sharp, "here, take it and eat"! Will it work for you? Providing tasty food may fulfil the Body, but the disrespect will not be satisfying for the Self! Similarly, if you are given respect, but no food, you may tolerate it for a day or two. However, you certainly need food also. Isn't it?
