Tijuana Book Of The Dead:

The Tijuana Book of the Dead Luis Alberto Urrea,2015-03-17 A gorgeous engaging collection Urrea captures the song and spirit of people who might otherwise be invisible As difficult as the subject matter may be the writing is radiant showing how the worth of human beings can't be dimmed by a border fence or hot button politics The Washington Post An exquisitely composed collection of poetry that examines life at the border from the New York Times bestselling author of Good Night Irene and The House of Broken Angels a finalist for the National Book Critics Circle Award in fiction Celebrated author Luis Alberto Urrea was inspired to create this work largely in response to the book bannings and abolition of Mexican American studies in Arizona and as a cry against the current political climate for immigrants Weaving English and Spanish languages as fluidly as he blends cultures of the southwest Urrea offers a tour of Tijuana spanning from Skid Row to the suburbs of East Los Angeles to the stunning yet deadly Mojave Desert to Mexico and the border fence itself Mixing lyricism and colloquial voices mysticism and the daily grind Urrea offers a deep and moving meditation on the blurring borders in a melting pot society

Across a Prayerful Planet Daniel Pawley,2022-01-18 In our mobile world travel memoirs are a staple And books about prayer line the shelves of readers who seek to grow spiritually through the timeless practice of conversing with God But books combining travel with prayer are rare and it is within this void that Daniel Pawley's masterful memoir of traveling the world with prayer as its backdrop establishes itself as an essential companion to both subjects Starting with a travel prayer template bequeathed in childhood by his parents Pawley then recalls life altering experiences as an adult in fifty locations spread across six continents each illuminated by the soulful prayers of ancient and modern seekers Inspired stops in places like exotic Bali and raucous Morocco as well as pain framed settings such as Chernobyl and Auschwitz combine to weave a tapestry seen more vibrantly in prayer's revealing light The result is a narrative of prayer's mysterious ability to provide hope and stabilizing faith in a world threatened by hate division and unbelief

Price, 2004 Landscape is the space of negotiation between human beings and the physical world and rarely are the negotiations more complex and subtle than those conducted through the desert landscape along the Mexico-U.S. border. Patricia L. Price views the shaping of the landscape on and around the border through various narratives that have sought to establish claims to these dry lands. Most prominent are the accounts of Anglo-American expansionism and Manifest Destiny juxtaposed with the Chicano nationalist tale of Aztlan in the twentieth century, all constituting collective contending claims to the U.S. Southwest. Demonstrating how stories can become vehicles for reshaping places and identities, Price considers characters old and new who inhabit the contemporary borderlands between Mexico and the United States, ranging from longstanding manifestations of good and evil in the figures of the Virgin of Guadalupe and the Devil to a collection of lay saints embodying current concerns. Dry Place weaves together theoretical insights with field-based inquiry, autobiography and creative writing to arrive at a textured understanding of the bordered landscape of late modern subjectivity. Differences arising from the legality, sociology and economics of sex work in each country.
