Time And The Metaphysics Of Relativity Philosophical Studies Series:

Time and the Metaphysics of Relativity W.L. Craig, 2013-11-11 The present volume is part of a larger project which is the attempt to draft a coherent doctrine of divine eternity and God's relationship to time. In my God I Time and Eternity I argued that whether one construes divine eternity in terms of timelessness or of omnitemporality will depend crucially upon one's views about the objectivity of tensed facts and temporal becoming. If one adopts a tensed or in McTaggart's terminology an A Theory of time then a coherent doctrine of divine eternity requires that one construe God at least since the moment of creation to exist temporally which implies that divine timelessness can be successfully maintained only if a tenseless or B Theory of time is correct. Accordingly in my companion volumes The Tensed Theory of Time a Critical Examination and The Tenseless Theory of Time a Critical Examination I set for myself the task of adjudicating the A vs B Theory of time. In the former volume I examine arguments for and against the A Theory of time and in the latter I turn to an examination of arguments for and against the B Theory. This inquiry took me into a study of relativity theory its presuppositions and implications. The paucity of integrative literature dealing with the concept of God and relativity theory is striking.

Lyonhart,2023-10-19 Henry More had an odd idea Thinking about space he realized it was invisible for we see things in space but not space itself It s also immaterial for matter exists in space but space is not itself material try to grab it and it slips through your fingers Space was also infinite and transcendent yet nonetheless omnipresent for we cannot go anywhere except in and through space But this was exactly how More saw God God is invisible immaterial infinite and transcendent yet also omnipresent above beyond and within us If God was somehow linked to space he could be truly present while remaining immaterial upholding the creator creature distinction He d be near to us but would not be identical with us just as space is distinct from the objects occupying it while remaining intimately close to those objects What if space was in some sense divine Odder still Newton soon erected his new physics upon More s idea Indeed there s real evidence that the modern scientific world was unwittingly grounded upon this theistic metaphysic Of course modern physics shed these underpinnings in the nineteenth century and was itself relativized by Einstein in the twentieth Yet this book seeks to reappraise More s odd idea Is divine space theologically orthodox Can it provide a new argument for the existence of God And does it have any philosophical merit for us post Einstein a Space God for a Space Age

The Tenseless Theory of Time W.L. Craig,2013-03-09 he present book and its companion volume The Tensed Theory of Time a T Critical Examination are an attempt to adjudicate what one recent discussant has called the most fundamental question in the philosophy of time namely whether a static or a dynamic conception of the world is correct I had originally intended to treat this question in the space of a single volume but the study swelled into two I found that an adequate appraisal of these two competing theories of time requires a wide ranging discussion of issues in metaphysics philosophy of language phenomenology philosophy of science philosophy of space and time and even philosophy of religion and that this simply could not be done in one volume If these volumes succeed in making a contribution to the debate it will be precisely because of the synoptic nature of the discussion therein Too often the question of the nature of time has been prematurely answered by some philosopher or physicist simply because he is largely ignorant of relevant discussions outside his chosen field of expertise In these two complementary but independent volumes I have attempted to appraise what I take to be the most important arguments drawn from a variety of fields for and against each theory of time
