Alexander Täuschel, 2008-10 Project Report from the year 2006 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Other grade 1 3 University of Frankfurt Main Institut f r England und Amerikastudien course Translation and Intercultural Communication 26 entries in the bibliography language English abstract This paper will give a general overview of the venture that is machine translation with particular focus on linguistic aspects It will display history of MT and will deal with some of the major issues in the realisation of MT like the difficulty of translating prepositions or integrating semantics as well as the importance of real world knowledge To illustrate these difficulties with examples on a basic level a practice test with a moderately complex translation engine provided by Google has been carried out and will be explained Finally I am going to introduce three of the largest and most powerful translation machines currently in use I will also give a brief overview of methods of MT The aim of this paper is to show that the realisation of the primal idea of machine translation in its original sense which was to perform translation without human intervention except during the construction phase of the system is still markedly far away at present and machines are still unlikely to take over the jobs of human translators
