Weep For Africa A Rhodesian Light Infantry Paratroopers Farewell To Innocence:

Weep for Africa Jeremy Hall, 2014 Jeremy Hall's childhood in the white ruled apartheid South Africa of the 1950s and 60s was ostensibly idyllic growing up in the farming areas of Natal he had free rein to pander to his keen exploratory mind yet niggling away was entrenched racism and interracial hatred Closeted in the hallowed halls of an English speaking high school the revelation of the real world that followed a world of township unrest Afrikaner politicians issuing dire warnings of the red and black hordes massing on the borders exploded into Hall's psyche with his national service call up into the South African Defense Force SADF where he encountered the institutionalized hatred of the Afrikaner hierarchy for the English speaking recruits the rowe or scabs Disillusioned and unsettled following his SADF conscription Hall found himself in 1976 signing on for three years with 2 Commando The Rhodesian Light Infantry as the bush war in that country erupted from a simmering low key insurgency into full blown war As a paratrooper with this crack airborne unit he was to see continual combat on Fireforce operations and cross border raids into Zambia and Mozambique such as Operation Dingo the 1977 Rhodesian attack on ZANLA's Chimoio base

Fighting and Writing Luise White,2021-02-08 In Fighting and Writing Luise White brings the force of her historical insight to bear on the many war memoirs published by white soldiers who fought for Rhodesia during the 1964-1979 Zimbabwean liberation struggle In the memoirs of white soldiers fighting to defend white minority rule in Africa long after other countries were independent White finds a robust and contentious conversation about race difference and the war itself These are writings by men who were ambivalent conscripts generally aware of the futility of their fight not brutal pawns flawlessly executing the orders and parroting the rhetoric of a racist regime Moreover most of these men insisted that the most important aspects of fighting a guerrilla war tracking and hunting knowledge of the land and of the ways of African society were learned from black playmates in idealized rural childhoods In these memoirs African guerrillas never lost their association with the wild even as white soldiers boasted of bringing Africans into the intimate spaces of regiment and regime

Never Fear 147 Is Here Paul Allin,David Freemantle,2020-11-30 National service Intake 147 of the Rhodesian Army was arguably the most successful of the whole Rhodesian Bush War This is an accurate historical account of the twenty months these young men whose average age was only 19 spent in the army as told by the men themselves They were the first national service unit to take part in Fire Force operations and in 1976 only the Rhodesian Light Infantry had more kills than 3 Independent Company The members were awarded one Silver Cross of Rhodesia three Bronze Crosses and one Military Forces Commendation They were recommended for a unit citation on more than one occasion

Fireforce Chris Cocks,2007-07-01 Fireforce is the compelling brutal account of Chris Cocks service in 3 Commando the Rhodesian Light Infantry during Zimbabwe s bitter civil war of the 1970s a conflict that came to be known simply as the bush war The book s title refers to a tactic of total airborne envelopment developed and perfected by the RLI together with the Selous Scouts and the Rhodesian Air Force that became the principal strike weapon of the beleaguered Rhodesian forces in their struggle against the overwhelming tide of the Communist trained and equipped ZANLA and ZIPRA guerrillas This book is not for the squeamish It blends the intrinsic pathos and humor peculiar to war with face to face combat in the bush and death at point blank range Now here is your chance to read what several critics have called the best book on the Rhodesian War ever written

Echoes of an African War Chas Lotter, 1999 only the poets of the First World War have captured so compellingly the many moods of the young soldiers Prof Marcia Leveson President English Academy of Southern Africa The soldier poet of southern Africa matches his haunting poetry with authentic photos paintings and sketches to tell the story of the Rhodesian bush war Echoes of an African War follows the story of the teenaged army recruit who exchanged his home and his family for the world of barrack life It sketches the years until 1973 when a low intensity war allowed a young man to explore the African bush The story then bursts into the late 1970s when the conflict escalated into a vicious civil war It covers the war s end in 1980 and the subsequent readjustment to civilian life before finishing in 1999 when as a mature man he looks back and remembers events that are now history Most important of all this work imparts to his children what it looked like to have been been a soldier in Rhodesia s war Chas Lotter has perfected the magic art of combining pathos and eeriness His observations are canny and surgically precise as he gradually unfolds his story Chas Lotter the soldier poet of the Rhodesian war had an unusual apprenticeship in the craft of poetry Life began for him in Germiston South Africa in 1949 His family moved to Rhodesia in 1953 and it was there that he grew up on farms in the Bindura and Gatooma Kadoma areas He moved to Salisbury Harare in 1974 where he met his wife Avril As a field medic Sergeant Lotter served for nine years with frontline units of the Rhodesian Army It was these years of action emotion and savage experience that fuelled the poet s fire in him He started writing poetry on the backs of cigarette boxes in an attempt to deal with the realities of the war From such humble beginnings emerged a series of vivid pictures of an African nation at war Lotter s work was first published in Peter Badcock s volume Shadows of War Subsequently he collaborated with Badcock on another successful work Faces of War In 1984 he published his highly acclaimed Rhodesian Soldier that blends photographs and verse to form a wide ranging monograph of the Rhodesian war His work has earned him membership of the English Academy of Southern Africa and his poetry has been published around the world He lives in Pretoria South Africa
