Designing for Democracy Jennifer Forestal, 2022 How should we fix digital technologies to support democracy instead of undermining it? In Designing for Democracy, Jennifer Forestal argues that accurately evaluating the democratic potential of digital spaces means studying how the built environment, a primary component of our modern public square, structures our activity, shapes our attitudes, and supports the kinds of relationships and behaviors democracy requires. While many scholars and practitioners are attentive to the role of design in shaping behavior they have yet to fully engage with the question of what structures are required to support democratic communities and how to build them Forestal closes this gap by providing a new theory of democratic space Drawing from a wide range of disciplines including architecture psychology and the history of political thought she argues that democratic spaces must be designed with three environmental characteristics boundaries durability and flexibility that taken together afford users the ability to engage in fundamental civic practices Through extended analyses of Facebook Twitter and Reddit Forestal shows precisely how well these digital platforms meet the criteria for democratic spaces or whether they do so at all The result is a more nuanced analysis of the democratic communities that form or fail to emerge in these spaces as well as more concrete suggestions for how to improve them In connecting the built environment digital technologies and democratic theory

Hidden Psychology of Social Networks: How Brands Create Authentic Engagement by Understanding What Motivates Us Joe Federer, 2020-09-15 From the former Head of Brand Strategy at Reddit comes a proven and thought provoking approach to the digital economy and how brands can create authentic engagement that is rooted in the fundamental motivations behind human psychology. Leading marketing practitioner and thought leader Joe Federer draws on evolutionary biology, anthropology, neuroanatomy, and psychology, as well as more than a decade of hands-on experience to explain why people act so differently in various online spaces and what they are seeking from participating in each one. With a framework based on Freud's Id, Ego, and Superego model of the human psyche, he demonstrates how the internet is a digital reflection of the collective human psyche and how different social networks correspond to different mindsets. Platforms like Reddit to the unfiltered Id, Facebook and Twitter to the managed Ego, and Instagram to the ideal Superego. In the same way you behave differently when you're home alone, out with friends, communicating with family, or interacting with coworkers, people act and express themselves differently in these various online spaces. Context matters. Understanding this will enable you to develop and execute effective engagement strategies to reach your target audiences on each social network. Learn how to create content that drives sharing and word of mouth, how brands can fit natively into different types of social channels, how to balance branded social presences across different networks, why authenticity will only grow in importance to consumers. Fascinating and deeply compelling, The Hidden Psychology of Social Networks will equip you to make vastly more efficient use of your media buys, establish more thoughtful strategies, develop better creative, and in the end, deliver more effective marketing that provides value.
